

Lon Williams is an employment and labor attorney with over 30 years' experience representing employers in every aspect of their relationship with their employees; his practice is typically described as an advice and counsel practice.

Lon's practice includes assisting his clients in many industries, with a particular emphasis on the staffing, financial services and defense contracting sectors.